Prospective Flotation of Japanese Loan Viewed With Equanimity by Bankers.

New York, May &-The sluggishness and narrowness of the stock market were even more notable to-day than on previous this week. The movement of prices was so slight as to offer little basis for omment. United States Steel preferred was somewhat relieved from the pressure which it has been recently subjected, and Pennsylvania was rather freely sold with the dividend off. This stock held firmly yesterday in face of the poor showing of earnings, presumably on account of the desire of holders to collect the cash and from the unwillingness of seers to remain short of the stock over nd period, since they are obliged to pay the accruing dividend. There was necessary to prevent the sagging condi-tion which is normal to a stagment mar-

NEWS INEFFECTIVE.

The news of the day had little effect either way. Such developments as there were effered nothing to stimulate any revival of speculation. Some attention was paid to the reported hitch in the plan for payment for the Panama Canal, but the matter was regarded as concerning the parties to the contract in questions of tachnical detail rather than the general dicate involves additional calls upon the money market to meet the assessment by releasing a block of bonds that may be offered, neither of which incidents is capable of an interpretation in favor of the market. The news from London of the flotation of a Japanese loan of $5,00,00, of which New York is expected to take half, was accepted as another evidence of a real abundance of capital resources here, and the money market was quite unsflected by these prospective claims upon it.

TO BE SPENT HERE The intimation that the proceeds of the view to their ultimate expenditure in our markets was a modifying factor in the news of the loan. The advance in refined sugar was taken as explanatory of yesterday's strength in sugar, but it was not followed up to-day. Railroads reporting weekly gross earnings showed declines without exception for the fourth week in April. Prices receded late in the day under offerings by tired holders, but the decline did not proceed far. The day's net changes were trivial losses.

SUMMARY OF ST. LOUIS MARKETS

Despite the fact that most of the news which ordinarily would swing a market was rather favorable to the selling than to the buying side, future prices again advanced at yesterday's session. The principal reason seemed to be that the shorts feared to take chances in a manipulated market. Professionals, especially in Chicago, were active on the buying side, but their efforts to bring outsiders into the market were not successful. Weather conditions were generally invorable and foreign markets showed no inclination to follow the trend of domestic prices. Bullish indications were worked to the limit in furthering the advance. The Illinois crop report showed, some retardation of growth, and Snow in his weekly estimate predicted that the forth-conjing Government report would show a lower average than the last previous one. The situation west of the Mississippi was generally favorable, except in the Red River district of the spring belt, where rains were said to have caused a further delay in seeding. All together the builish information was pretty thin, but there were so many evidences of present and forthcoming manipulation by the big longs that offerings were generally well taken.

Receipts of corn were larger than on the corresponding day last year, but the market, though very dull, followed wheat on the upturn. Cables showed slight improvement and the movement to primary points was slow. July wheat opened 1/2 up and closed 1/46 2/4 up.

July corn opened 4c up and closed 4c up. July outs closed unchanged.

Receipts of produce were in fair volume, but there was a good demand and prices of fruits and vegetables were generally firm.

In the local security market the feature was the strength of the traction issues, which were taken at sharp advances. Other issues were firmly held.

Yesterday's bank clearings were $7,901,600, balances $869,978. Discount rates were steady between 5 and 6 per cent.

FUTURE PRICES STRONG ON COVERING BY SHORTS.
